The main emphasis of the Strategic Operations Group is focused on;

1. the Advanced Technology Development Program (ATDP) offers and involves a greater aspect of the enterprise operations and larger program participation for members;

• this offers a corresponding technology specific capacity and focus, experimental and applied research and development, production infrastructure, integrated, independent or interdependent projects, components, major and sub assemblies, systems and support network for prime and sub-contract options;

• the operational realm of the ATDP has provision for initial organization, business combinations, co-development, business options including secure supply line development with an enable, augment and amplify allied investment strategy, public and private partnerships, other creative entities and agreements, a dynamic and integrated OEM options supply chain management;

• the financial realm of the ATDP provides an extensive capital structure, a direct investment and acquisitions capability and options, risk and liability management, enhanced revenue generators and characteristics. The main principles for responsible investment operate and apply beyond the financial investment aspect only and are included with the financial and non-financial investment, contributions, development and acquisition options (non-investment options), the expanded range of the operational realm of options and the technology specific capacity and focus, and the CVI-Options (the whole deal).

• Additionally, provisions that enable the investment and acquisition of foreign entities, licensing, joint ventures, auxiliary and technology specific infrastructure with a Made in Canada emphasis. This can include production and business units, industrial, technology and ATDP allies for a more international, country or technology specific enterprise to add to the jobs, growth and productivity endeavours to be possible, optimizing other resources to build great things together, with wider co-operative and inclusive horizons where appropriate;

2. the Custom Build Options (CBO) that offers a more specific project participation, contribution or business option;

• the focus is more segmented and specific to the Custom Build Options that includes prototype, super prototype, limited or initial production, technology demonstrator, certified and non-certified production units, or other enhanced, auxiliary options;

• the CBO benefits from existing infrastructure within the CVI-Options, the ATDP and other entities that may sub-contract products or services which may be conventional or advanced in nature;

• with the CBO, provisions that greatly add value and generate revenues are emphasized, as this is capitalized by the existing infrastructure, capacity and design engineering, market research, corresponding technology, operational and financial realms;

• capital appreciation, conventional, customer markets, demographic, trend, brand, industry optimization and strategic asset development may be generated with the various milestones, campaigns, pre-existing combinations and new developments. This offers potential in sales revenue, additional investment, business and strategic options and an expanded resource base to continue to attract and retain talented personnel, drive new innovation, production and added risk and reward options.

• Portfolio diversification and options may include; industry, technology, product or product line, in addition to the many pieces that make up the whole. This adds to maximum and optimum market reach with a significant range of possibilities to be realized.

• With Custom Build Options, various timelines and scenarios are possible, various provisions for compensation, rights, options, bonus and the unique ideal of being able to 'have your name on it' that is product specific. This can also have title, revenue stream, acquisition and conversion provisions, in addition to preferential options in either securities acquisitions, stock options and other relevant options that add to the portfolio spectrum, opportunity and equilibrium that is possible with Capital Vault Incorporated.

• Additionally, the development and acquisition option is very useful to have in the case where resources are allocated to that specific Custom Build Option and conversion or other acquisition rights are exercised. This can also have provision for a Conditional Sales and/or Acquisition Contract, Joint Venture and Business Options, Authorized Agent Options that may include sales, service, distribution or other general or specialized agreements. This can be applied in a vast range of scenarios that create greater wealth, opportunity and a more rewarding quality of life in a way that is more ideal for the members.

Although several options may seem complex in nature, it is more to the comprehensive, dedicated, custom creative options that allow and account for a greater degree of flexibility in the vast landscape of the CVI portfolio spectrum, as you can see there are a lot more choices that are relevant for individual and group requirements, decisions, timelines, performance, risk and reward and the pure excitement of being part of the solution and getting what you want. With the massive array of CVI-Options it is possible to zoom in on what you like, need and want and benefit from that in many ways, in addition to generating significant value that adds to the quality of life for everyone, the opportunity, challenge, reward and prosperity in Canada and also to the world. We have an important job to do, we can roll up our sleeves, sharpen that pencil, work those numbers, provide much more for people and get that productivity machinery in gear to make a difference.

At this stage of the game, to know and focus on general or specific options is essential as the range of relevant options and variables generate exponential possibilities for consideration, intel to be reviews, decisions to be made and action to take, with a streamlined continuous improvement aspect, we expect to present amazing potential without parallel.
