

Capital Vault Incorporated – Trade and Technology Group [Order_TTG]
Currency, Precious Metals & Minerals Account [TTG_A_CPMM]

Opportunity & Vision:

- With this endeavour there are opportunities in both speculative markets, in addition to practical commercial, financial and consumer demands. People will always acquire what they want just because they want it and also acquire it because they need it, or in some cases because someone else needs it or wants it too. Simple right?
- Anyone that is attracted to bright shiny objects and limitless faceted geometric possibilities just waiting to be discovered or machined or transformed from a humble looking object will most likely park some resources here. Although this involves mining, it can be done ethically and responsibly without creating hazardous abandoned mining sites or anything like that, and can acquire materials for further processing and directed to the finished and final product market.
- Luckily for us, with this portfolio, no one has to die or risk their life, knowing that to build an advanced civilization, a group of people need to be civilized and that some people have learned that the almighty karma system seems to take away all those things that were obtained by fraud, war, theft, expropriation and so on. Many will disagree and laugh, but armies will not save you if you have no spiritual survival value, we did not invent the system, but we acknowledge its' existence, which is another good reason to live peaceably and in harmony with others and the environment. Also, don't you worry, the loyal happy go lucky puppy or full time yard dog is still mans' best friend with star power all in their own and will most likely be voted as the “portfolio symbol” in the near future, because there are things worth much more than what money can buy. This is written for your understanding of our perspective and help those wondering about what a socially conscious, globally responsible, multi-cultural, ethical fund really is....yeah, now back to the rock collection...

Explore & Discover:

- The mineral aspect is also essential in that, there are minerals, advanced materials and products in a raw, semi-processed and final state, that do amazing things which make them worth an enormous amount of money that people are more and happy to pay for. Cash in and cash out options.
- Sign up, get involved, be organized, contribute assets, resources, expertise, generate capabilities, personnel optimization, secure strategic advantage, market share, new wealth creation and channels of wealth and transform immediate and long term prospects in all enterprise industry sectors.
- Custom high value added and multiplied product value materialized from stone cutting, jewelry, art, industrial diamond and other materials for cutting and polishing tools. Creating new sales and markets within a very established distribution and service system that exists just about anywhere is standard.
- Currencies includes real tangible and intangible currencies, trading systems for products and services, clubs, organizations, co-operatives, collectivities, un-incorporated associations, private currencies and alternative or complimentary currencies that will continue to fuel the growth of group dynamics with plenty of resources to accommodate environmental, ecological, community and real world operating parameters, concerns and constraints. An enhanced resource base, financial mobility from saving and buying power with amplified community and local economies, transforming thought, dreams and plans into 3D reality with our actions results in the quality of life that makes a difference.
- Finally, a small note that even if you do not contribute to this account, it might be an idea to pick up and develop your own rock, crystal a gem collection and discover a whole new world learn about geology, spend time in the great outdoors, do some prospecting or rock climbing (take lessons and get equipped) some mining and just develop an appreciation for something so exquisite in an every way a natural element of being. Just doing this can transform your life into an alternate future reality!